TODAY'S PROGRAM...

Stovetop Coffee Roasters

Steve Holm

Today's program was introduced by Luke Panning. He attended Hope College with our speaker, Steve Holm. Steve is the owner of Stovetop Roasters LLC. He began his talk by walking us through the steps of the coffee process, known as seed to cup. Coffee beans (also commonly referred to as pits and seeds as well) grow on trees/bushes and are picked and then need the mucilage (outer flesh) removed either via processing using water (depending on resources) or just drying them out. Most coffee beans come from tropical regions – especially countries located in the Tropics of Capricorn and Cancer. After the beans are separated from the cherry, they need to be roasted. Stovetop Roasters has a drum that roasts beans at about 450 degrees Fahrenheit for 12-15 minutes. Each batch yields about 20 pounds of beans. Steve is the head coffee roaster and notes that roasting is equivalent to a chemical process such as cooking meat or toasting bread. He has to keep a close eye on the beans as they roast so as to not let them roast too little time (coffee would taste like grass, he says) or too long so that the coffee just tastes charred. The final step in the process is brewing. Stovetop Roasters is sure to use a scale to measure the coffee to a 1/10 of a gram and also creates their own "coffee water" to ensure optimal taste when brewing. This water goes through reverse osmosis and then has minerals added back in. ~Continued on Page 5.

GUESTS AT OUR CLUB...

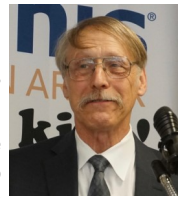

Dave LaMoreaux introduced today's guests: Drew Leslie, guest of Dale Leslie, Arno Buhner, guest of Pat Buhner, Joyce Novak, guest of Jane Talcott and Al Dyer from the Ypsilanti Firehouse Museum, guest of Joe Medrano.

HOSPITALITY...

Fred Sanchez reported that Lynne Lande's son, Steve, suffered a heart attack but has had stents placed and is on the road to recovery.

ANNOUNCEMENTS...

- Dan Dever announced today that all items to be donated to the sale should be placed on the east dock in the sorting area. This is to ensure that items are not left around the building. Of course, this excludes any food items brought in. Those can be placed in the kitchen.
- Dan Dever also announced that due to safety and liability reasons, the sales floor area including the double doors and both gates will be locked up at the end of the day, when the facility coordinator leaves. If you need to be in the sales area after that, you will need to coordinate plans with Mario or Tanya.
- Are you looking for something to fill your time on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, or Saturday? The hardware/houseware department of the Kiwanis Thrift Sale could use your help.

Dan Dever

SOCIAL EVENTS...

- The Annual Kiwanis Picnic will be held on Sunday, August 5th from 12-3pm. It's promised to be a good time and if you are still interested in coming, sign up with Mary Stewart.
- The Kiwanis Tiger's outing is happening on Saturday, August 11th. There are two tickets remaining for this hot event. Contact Fred Sanchez ASAP to scoop them up!
- Calling all golfers! The Annual Kiwanis Golf Outing is on Thursday, September 13th 2018 and if you'd like to participate, please see George Gilligan.

Al Dyer from the Michigan Firehouse Museum thanked the club for money we recently donated and also let us know that with it, they have acquired an old fire truck and will be cutting off the cab and making it into a play area for the many children visiting the museum. Also, the Firehouse Museum Muster is happening on August 18th at Riverside Park, across from the museum from 10am – 3pm. All are welcome.

FINES...

Ken Hillenburg proposed a fine on anyone that was not wearing any Kiwanis gear (which he points out has been displayed for sale for over a year and a half in the meeting room). The motion failed in a surprising vote. With William not present to defend his streak of unanimous fines passing, Dan Dever had to go with the representative democracy.

Nick Dever then addressed Past President John Dahl, proposing a fine on President-Elect Dan Dever—questioning whether he was representing good principle with the previous failed fine or if he was just expressing his sudden surge of power. He was willing to support his brother either way. This motion passed and the brother's paid up.

Finally, Fred Sanchez, sad that he only had collected two quarters for his pot, proposed a fine on everyone who had not yet paid a quarter. This passed unanimously.

HAPPY DOLLARS...

☺ Dale Leslie was happy for his son's presence at the meeting and spoke to his continuing apprehension to talk about his son's job as trombone performance professor at Appalachian State University even 11 years after Michigan Football's heartbreaking loss to them.

☺ Bob Gray was very thankful (and gave $20 happy dollars) for everyone that had signed up to work the sale on Saturday and also the 20 additional persons that responded to his call for more sale help on Wednesday. These people include: Kathy Barden-Perlberg, Dave Bell, Lea Birkle, Mike Birkle, Jim Blomquist, Alan Burg, Dan Burroughs, Carol Bagchi, Susan Cramer, Larry Dittmar, Clare Dukes, Billy Finch, Paula Fomby, Ken Hillenburg, Margaret Krasnoff, Lynne Lande, Evan LeRoy, Luke Panning, John Schenk, and Kurt Schmerberg.

☺ Kathy Barden-Perlberg gave $3 happy dollars for her outreach committee efforts and all the work they have been doing to prepare for the first group that will be visiting the sale on Saturday, August 4th which is the Ann Arbor Rotary Club. They will shop, have lunch, and have a presentation about our club and how we help the community. She also gave a dollar in honor of a man who works in the Manchester cemetery and approached her about us needing to tell fat people to donate more clothes as we are lacking in the clothing department for larger people.

☺ Max Ziegler gave $5 happy dollars in honor of the 44th annual Browns Trout Fishing Festival he just attended in Alpena. He caught the largest fish weighing in at 8 lbs. 4 oz. Inquiring minds wanted to know if the fish lived on or if it was consumed. Max ate it!

Max Ziegler and his fish

☺ Dan Burroughs came to the podium with $16 happy dollars, one for each of the children and youth services committee members who have worked to decide how to disperse $87,735 to 41 non-profit organizations through grants. He also recognized the amazing work of treasurer, Eloise Lavin, for her help and efficiency. The committee members are as follows: Mike Dabbs, Bryce Babcock, Jim Carey, Claire Dahl, John Dahl, Larry Dittmar, Andrea Kotch-Duda, Garry Evans, Steve Hiller, Sally Lamkin, Gerry Luke, Dot McNab-Cattell, Fred Miller, Gretchen Preston, and Julianne Williams. Thanks for your dedication to this project!

☺ Luke Panning gave a happy $1 in honor of attending the art fair with his wife. She saw a piece of original artwork that she thought might look great in their house. Luke convinced her to keep walking and come back and get it later (looking out for his pocket book, of course). Well, upon arriving back at the booth, it had been purchased. Luke was so disappointed!

☺ Susan Smith gave $1 as she gifted Ellen Webb something that had come across the sorting area as a thank you for all her time and dedication to all she does for Kiwanis. It was a cute figurine with a quilt and on the bottom it said, "When life gives you scraps, make a quilt." Thanks Ellen!

☺ Alan Burg gave $5 happy dollars in honor of Tanya and Bill Robb fixing the popcorn machine that had been broken for a few weeks. Alan lovingly makes popcorn for sale goers on Saturdays and let me tell you, people miss it when it's not there. Thanks for the fix, Bill and Tanya.

Steve shared with us how he got his humble beginning in the coffee business by purchasing a $2 espresso machine from a thrift sale much like ours and started selling lattes from his dorm room at Hope College. He participated in the Hope Entrepreneurship Initiative in college and while his idea wasn't for a coffee shop, it got his entrepreneurial spirit burning. He began Stovetop Roasters in a friend's basement using a popcorn machine to roast the beans. During that time, two additional people joined the team—Jared, a creative designer and Dave, for "older wisdom." They moved to the space in Ann Arbor where they currently roast all their coffee in 2017 (after some construction delays). They service many wholesale coffee accounts across the state, have a cafe in Kerry Town, have five full time employees and also are looking to open more cafes in the future. If you would like to learn out more about Stovetop Roasters, check out their website at www.stovetoproasters.com or go visit their cafe at 327 Braun Court (in Kerrytown) which serves coffee from 9am-2pm Friday–Sunday. The goal of their cafe is to "create a space where exceptional coffee, kindness and people all interact."

Several questions were asked of Steve at the end of his presentation and they included:

Bob Gray inquired how they select the beans they brew and how does the decaffeination process work? Steve carefully selects his beans from growers who are working hard to make livings for their family. He also doesn't know a lot about the decaffeination process as they don't do it at Stovetop Roasters (and I don't blame him... coffee is better fully loaded!)

Jerry Brown wanted to know the shelf life of the beans that Steve showed on one of his slides: Steve said coffee beans should be picked and roasted within 9 months and this is if they are stored at proper temperature. They try to sell their coffee whole-bean as once beans are ground, they immediately lose flavor. Whole-bean coffee should be consumed between four days and three weeks after roasting.

Arno Buhner wanted to know about Kona coffee and whether the volcano in that region affected coffee and also about how instant coffee is made. Steve does not have a lot of knowledge about coffee from the Kona region other than they don't export a lot of their coffee. He also told us that instant coffee is made by brewing and then dehydrating the coffee but also brought up that there is a quality issue with instant coffee.

Kathy Barden-Perlberg inquired what it's like to compete with companies that sell K-Cups? Steve likened owning Stovetop Roasters to owning a craft brewery. He creates a product that is high quality and if someone really wants a good cup, they will be willing to pay a little more for it.

Max Ziegler wanted to know what would happen if he had coffee at their cafe with their "special water" and then bought some to brew at home and had to use Ann Arbor city water and it didn't taste good? Steve told him he's out of luck! I think they should start selling their coffee water!

Larry French wanted to know how climate change is affecting coffee bean growth? Steve made mention of the fact that they are not a large enough company to have the resources to make a large impact on the current situation but said they acknowledge the problem exists and will continue to support the growers that they can while looking to make a bigger impact as the company grows and expands.

Alan Burg wanted to know the address of the roaster—it's 8186 Jackson Rd.

Dan Burroughs inquired as to whether there was a ceiling for the price of a cup of coffee: Steve said it all depends on the quality of the bean—coffee can range from $3/cup at their cafe to $20/cup. It's definitely a market where you can pay for what you want to get out of it.

Bryce Babcock inquired about fair trade coffee. Stovetop Roasters is not currently buying fair trade coffee but acknowledged that there are a lot of rules and regulations regarding fair trade coffee and also organic products and most growers can't afford to get appointed. He said that the beans they buy are already 2-3 times over what someone would get paid for fair trade beans and are grown organically anyway.

Thanks for presenting, Steve, and enlightening us about the coffee process and your business, Stovetop Roasters. Let's show Steve some support and stop in for a cup of joe!
